Definitions

ARTEMIS consists of two components:

- A suite of interactive, web-based, AMRO automated analytical tools (AAA+) and visualizations developed by staff for use in their surveillance of ASEAN+3 members and other key economies in the world. These tools populate the Financial Stability Grid, a comprehensive framework for analyzing key risks across economic sectors and are automatically updated in real time as new data are released, to facilitate up-to-date analyses of macro-financial developments.
- corresponding sets of derived data that are published
